Happy Thanksgiving!

In October, VIP HomeKeeping was given the opportunity to have a booth at this year's Athena's Run. Our sincere thanks to Novant Health for their financial support and to Dr. Elizabeth Skinner & Alison Perkins from Novant's Cancer Center for their hard work.

It was a wonderful day. Set up was scheduled before the sun arrived, so with the help of car's headlights and a few flashlights we all forged ahead to get everything ready before the participants and the spectators arrived.

It was a gorgeous day and everything looked so festive. The teal boas and Mardi Gras beads really did push things over the top!

Initially I was confused by the 'Parade of Warriors' held after the completion of the race. There were so many people heading toward the awards arena ---how could there be that many survivors?

As they came closer, I realized that they were 'teams'---the survivors and the family and friends who supported them through their long journey. There were some who marched in honor of a love-one who had lost the fight. There was one group of five sisters who all wore frilly hats and honored the memory of their beloved mother. It was a time of rejoicing in lives well lived and honoring those who were no longer with us, but also a time of victory as well, for all the warriors who battled and continue to battle and the wonderful people who support them.

It was an amazing day of celebrating victory and life. But mainly it was a day that reminded me of how amazing the human spirit is.....filled with hope, determination and perseverance.

We all have much to be thankful for!

Steve

What's New?

Winter's approaching and most of you have turned on your heaters. There are several items that should be on your 'to-do' list. One should be to check your smoke detector if you didn't do that when you changed the clocks back to standard time. Another is to change the filter in your HVAC system

It is also a good time for some serious cleaning. VIP has just purchased a steamer with the capacity to vaporize dust mites and their allergy-inducing by products.

Give us a call today and we'll take care of that for you.

Fun Alert!

If you haven't yet gone, gather the family and head on over to Farmington for one of the Holidays on Broadway performances. This is the final of four great shows put on by Broadway's Best, a new local theater production company, for this year. At present the group is raising funds for the conversion to a 'real' theater of the current building, so this season is labeled 'Bare Bones'.

Holidays on Broadway is not a Christmas show, but includes musical numbers related to holidays throughout the year beginning with New Years (do I hear Au Lang Syne?) and culminating with some overlooked Christmas classics.

Don't know what to get Aunt Sue for Christmas? Buy her a ticket and spend the evening with her—she will enjoy it long after the fruit cake would have been consumed!

For more information go to broadwaysbest.biz or call 336-575-4446

Performances November 29th, 30th, December 1st, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th.

Roxie & Friends

Roxie here. Today Steve and I are going to talk to Kristin Johnson. Kristin works at Broyhill, she keeps everything working properly there. She and her friend Jennie also run an event planning business called The Perfect Pair Event Design.

Steve didn't take me to Athena's Run, but Kristin and Jennie put that event together and Steve said everything worked like a well oiled machine. They actually were the wedding planners for a wedding later that same afternoon—busy ladies, huh? That sure sounds like a very full day to me.

They have lots of experience with all kinds of special events, so if you are planning any kind of celebration, give them a call

The Perfect Pair will be the perfect people to make your celebration.....Perfect! You can reach them at 336-408-5426 or Kristen@theprecpair.biz

Keep those cookies coming in folks. Steve promised me more walks if I eat too many and I get a little pudgy---And I love walks almost as much as cookies, especially since there are usually lots of bugs to snack on along the way.
